Nothing exudes the Christmas spirit more than slipping into your favorite holiday wear, spending time with family around the Christmas tree, and indulging your taste buds. This holiday season, Krispy Kreme's has added its new 'Hot Now' Light Up Sweater to its Merch Store, which is sure to brighten up fans' spirit this season. "Krispy Kreme Doughnuts" Photo by Jim, the PhotographerUnder The LicenseCC BY 2.0 The phrase "Hot Now" doesn't mean that sweater would keep you warm (which it would); it represents a vital part of the Krispy Kreme experience. If you are picking up one of Krispy Kreme's iconic donut in-store and you see the "Hot Now" sign light up, then you know you are getting a fresh batch of donuts right from the oven. Krispy Kreme's 'Hot Now' Light Up Sweater has a cool trick up its sleeve. As the name suggests, the 'Hot Now' sign lights up. The 'Hot Now' Light Up Sweater features fourteen red LED bulbs that can be turned on via a switch located inside the sweater on the wearer's right. The Red LED lights flash in fun patterns. Krispy Kreme's 'Hot Now' Light Up Sweater is one hundred percent acrylic and is entirely machine washable. Before tossing it in the washer, just remember to remove the included batteries. The 'Hot Now' Light Up Sweater size ranges from small to double XL and comes in one festive color; Black/Red. You can pick up your 'Hot Now' Light Up Sweater at Krispy Kreme's Merch Store along with brand themed clothing and accessories. If you are at a Krispy Kreme store for the holidays, you should definitely check out their Nicest Holiday Collection and thank me later. A room-temperature doughnut is tasty and all, but there's really nothing quite like a hot and fresh Krispy Kreme doughnut. Just the thought of a piping-hot, fluffy doughnut is enough to make anyone's mouth water, but there's only a certain gap of time when stores serve them fresh out of the oven.True fans already know that a lit-up neon sign tells customers the store's hot lights are on—aka fresh doughnuts are being made—but you'd rather know what the status is before driving all the way there. Luckily, there's a foolproof way to find out.All Krispy Kreme locations make their own hot light schedules, so the time for the freshest doughnuts varies from store to store. The glazed doughnuts have a shelf life of just 12 hours, so bakers need to replenish them at some point. Each Krispy Kreme generally makes glazed doughnuts twice a day: around opening time, and again in the p.m., says a Krispy Kreme customer service representative. Specialty doughnuts are baked just once a day, and it's up to management to pick that time.The stores we talked to have their hot lights on from early to mid-morning, and again from early evening to close, though that won't be the same across the board. Don't make any assumptions — there's a reliable way to figure out your local shop's schedule. And no, you won't need to ask an employee.Like other restaurants, Krispy Kreme has an app that maps out the closest stores and offers coupons and rewards. But the best feature of all just might be its hot light indicator. Every time an employee switches on the hot light to start baking fresh doughnuts, the app's "Hot Now" symbol on your phone also turns red. If you see that red symbol, you're in luck! Fresh doughnuts are waiting just ahead On the other hand, a green map pin is your signal to hold off. The hot lights aren't on, so going in for a fresh-baked doughnut is a wild goose chase. (Not that we'd ever turn down a room-temperature treat.) Just check in with the app and you're guaranteed a fresh Krispy Kreme every time.For all your other doughnut needs, these are the 13 secrets Dunkin' employees wish you knew.This story was originally published by Reader's Digest.
